DR. SAUL MAGITSKY PASSES AMERICAN BOARD OF ORTHOPAEDIC SURGERY PART II CERTIFICATION EXAM

ATTLEBORO, MA, November 2, 2009 – Saul Magitsky, MD, of Sturdy Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Associates, recently passed the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery Part II Certification Exam. Certification by the American Board of Surgery means that the surgeon has met the specified educational, evaluation, and examination requirements of the Board.

Dr. Magitsky earned a medical degree from Mount Sinai School of Medicine. He did his residency training at Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center in Brooklyn, and did his adult joint reconstruction fellowship at Rush University Medical Center in Chicago. He specializes in all facets of adult hip and knee problems. His surgeries are done at Sturdy Memorial Hospital where he utilizes both arthroscopic as well as the latest minimally invasive surgical techniques; procedures which minimize the trauma to the underlying muscles in tendons allowing faster recovery with significantly less pain.

Dr. Magitsky is currently accepting new patients. Appointments can be made by calling 508/226-2213. The practice also offers x-ray and physical therapy services. Most insurance plans are accepted.
